CANNONISM THE ISSUE

House of Representatives "Fiddling
Around" to Find a Compromise,
Said Cannon, as He Sauntered
About.

Washington, D. C., March 18.—After a continuous session for 25 hours, the House was still deadlocked at one this afternoon on the question of overturning the rules and throwing Speaker Cannon off the rules committee. Efforts are being made by the "regulars" to reach some basis of compromise with the allies, but all indications were that the "insurgents" had the upper hand and could keep it indefinitely.

Speaker Cannon, who this forenoon surrendered the gavel to Rep. Olmstead, sauntered about the floor, and said: "I am willing to give up the gavel, but I am not willing to find some sort of a compromise, but I don't think much of it."

When daylight lifted through the windows of the House this morning, the scene rivaled Madison Square Garden in six-day-race time. The members slept on tables, chairs and the floor, and on the Republican side the lights were put out to permit slumber. During the night, the members napped, dazed, and held the gavel while Speaker Cannon slumbered in his office. Speaker Cannon returned soon after six o'clock, his face lined and drawn.

At seven o'clock the record showed a quorum present, and Olmstead of Pennsylvania, a "regular," moved that the officers of the House be instructed to cease their efforts to arrest absent members. The roll call on this was demanded, and the Cannon organization was again defeated, 98 to 24. The "insurgents" and Democrats charged at eight o'clock there would be a majority of seven, even with the full strength of the "regulars" on the floor. The absentees began drifting in at eight-thirty, some of them sauntering out to shake hands with Speaker Cannon.

"How long will this last?" was asked of Representative Dwight, the Republican whip.

"Ask me something easy," was the reply: "It all depends on the speaker. One thing is certain, they will not make him rule on that point of order till he is ready."

"This thing will probably last until the patience of the House is exhausted," said Representative Norris, Republican of Nebraska, the originator of the war; "then, when patience is exhausted, you may look for anarchy. Suppose the speaker refuses to rule for several days, and the members are convinced that he won't rule; then the only thing will be to use force. He must be removed, and that means anarchy. A new speaker would have to be put in the chair. If Cannon refuses to give up the gavel, you can imagine as well as I what a scene would ensue."

About nine o'clock, Cannon retired to rest again, giving the gavel to J. H. Moore, representative from Iowa, who stood off the "insurgents" till the speaker returned, declaring he doubted that a quorum was present, though the count of the House showed there was.

At 11:40, the Democrats began singing, "Old Black Joe" and others, with Moore wailing the gavel to quell the uproar. Representative Sheffield, Democrat, then declared that Cannon had "contemptuously abdicated" the chair and that the House was in a "state of anarchy."

The majority floor leader, Payne, demanded Sheffield's arrest for contempt of the House, but Sheffield was not arrested, and Moore then turned the gavel over to "Uncle Joe."

Nearly every member was in his seat when Cannon resumed the "throne." The galleries were jammed and people were twenty deep behind the gallery doors. On taking the gavel, Cannon said: "The chair will be turned to the gentleman from Iowa, Smith, Republican, and then I will shortly rule."

Representative Smith defended his votes in the organization, and Cannon then turned the gavel over to Olmstead of Pennsylvania, who recognized Campbell of Kansas, a Republican, who also defended the "insurgents."

Mrs. Taft was an attentive listener from her exclusive gallery during this phase of the proceedings.

The Real Issue of the Battle.

After a day of defeats for the Cannon organization the real conflict was precipitated when Representative Norris presented a resolution providing for a new set of rules with the speaker not included. The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, That the rules of the House be amended as follows:

"The committee on rules shall consist of 15 members, nine of whom shall be members of the majority party and six of whom shall be members of the minority party, to be selected as follows:

"The states of the Union shall be divided by a committee of three selected by the House, for that purpose, into nine groups, each group containing, as near as may be, an equal number of members belonging to the majority party. The states of the Union shall likewise be divided into six groups, each group containing, as near as may be, an equal number of members belonging to the minority party."

"At 10:30 o'clock on the day following the adoption of the report of said committee, each of said groups shall meet and select one of its number, a member of the committee on rules. The place of meeting for each of said groups shall be designated by the said committee of three in its report. Each of said groups shall report to the House the name of the members selected for membership on the committee on rules."

"The committee on rules shall select its own chairman, the speaker shall not

Last Night at Their Place of Resi-

Himself Up.

Boston, March 18.—Following a quarrel, Mrs. Gertrude Shields, aged 28, was shot in the neck last night before 7 o'clock last night, it is alleged, by Bernard, alias Joseph Silva, aged 35, with whom she had been living as his wife in the two basement rooms of the lodging house at 3 Taylor street, South End.

The woman was not seriously injured and after the 22-caliber bullet had been removed at the City hospital, she was permitted to return to her rooms.

The police searched for Silva without success. About midnight he walked in to station 16 in Cambridge, and said he had shot a woman in Boston and that if the Boston police wanted him he was ready to surrender. A patrolman was sent to Cambridge to get him.

Mrs. Shields is a widow with three children, two girls and a boy, the two girls living with her parents in Woburn. Her maiden name was Harrigan. The boy living with her is less than four years old. He was not in the room at the time of the shooting.

For the last two years it is said the couple have been living together and that Silva has persistently refused to do any work. Off and on for the past four years the woman has worked as a saleswoman in a department store and the last time she took up such employment was last Monday.

Governor Hughes of New York Told His Audience So.

Troy, N. Y., March 18.—Governor Hughes was the guest of honor last night at the annual banquet here of the Friends of St. Patrick. He responded to the toast, "The State of New York," during which he gloried in the fact that Irish blood runs through his veins and lauded the memory of Ireland's patron saint.

On the menu card was the Irish slogan, "Faugh-a-ballagh." "Clear the way," "We have lots of fog at the state capital," said the governor, commenting on the expression, "and that's why I'm for 'Faugh-a-ballagh' clear the way for the Irish and other good people of the United States."

Continuing, Governor Hughes said he had tried to do his duty during the past few years in showing where evil existed and suggesting remedies. "We have had recent examples of breaches of trust, it is true," he asserted, "but we have also had more honorable conduct in our standards in every department of life than ever before in the history of the country. The time is not far distant when any bribery in legislative halls will be absolutely unthinkable and nobody will be able to live under the suspicion of it. The time is not far distant when we will insist on impartiality and fairness in every department of government. The man with the book has seen his last day."

DAUGHTERS OF VERMONT.

Held Important Meeting in Boston Yesterday.

Boston, March 18.—A largely attended meeting of the Daughters of Vermont was held at the Vendome yesterday afternoon, the guests including the presidents and secretaries of 26 neighboring clubs. This being the last social gathering of the retiring president, Mrs. George H. Graves of Melrose, efforts were exerted to make it a notably brilliant affair in appreciation of her long and faithful service.

A letter was read from Mr. Watson of Waterbury, Vt., who asked the support of the club in the effort to introduce industrial training in the schools of Vermont.

After the business meeting there was a delightful musical, arranged by Mrs. Converse, chairman of the entertainment committee. The contributing artists were Helen Reynolds, violin, Katherine Halliday, "cello" and Margaret Cochran, piano. There were also vocal selections by a quartet, composed of Maye Belle Grace Dabman, first soprano, Emma Schenfeld-Moore, second soprano, Alice Gertrude Cox, first alto and Dorothy McTaggart Miller, second alto. The accompanist was Marion Chadwick Whitton.

New York, March 18.—Commander Robert E. Peary has cut short his lecture tour in the South. The refusal of Governor Brown of Georgia to introduce him to an Atlanta audience Wednesday night, his reference to the commander in an interview as a "faker" and the small crowd that attended the lecture brought forth an announcement last night from the Civic Forum in New York, under whose auspices Peary is lecturing, that his plans have been changed.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Sam Langford, the conqueror of Jim Flynn last night, says he will now camp on Johnson's trail. "I want to fight Johnson following the Jeffries fight, win, lose or draw, and I will bet $10,000 that I can beat him easily. That big nigger has been four-flushing long enough and I feel like kicking him no matter what the result of the Jeffries fight is."

SHOWED NO EMOTION.

When Convicted of Manslaughter at Wallingford.

Rutland, March 18.—Robert Eddy of Wallingford, aged 28 years, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Rutland county court yesterday afternoon for causing the death of Miss Mary Jane Johnson of Wallingford, aged 37 years, on October 9, 1909. The jury was out 25 hours. The prosecuting attorney in the case was Attorney General John G. Sargent of Ludlow and States Attorney J. C. Jones of this city and Eddy's counsel were W. H. Hotsford of Rutland and Frank L. Fish of Vergennes.

Eddy was tried a few weeks after Miss Johnson was killed, the jury disagreeing. The trial of the present case was begun on March 7 and the case was given to the jury at 11:45 o'clock Wednesday morning. They went into court with the verdict at 2:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A few minutes before this the jury entered the court room and Foreman John Delehanty of Fair Haven, announced that they had found the respondent guilty of murder in the "third degree."

As there is no such degree of murder under the Vermont statutes, the verdict was not accepted and Judge A. A. Hall sent the jurors back to their room for further consideration of the case. It was generally believed by the people in the court room at the time that by "third degree" the jury meant manslaughter and there was no surprise when the verdict for this was rendered 15 minutes later.

Attorney Fish moved that the verdict be set aside on the ground that there was no evidence in the case to warrant such a conviction. The motion was overruled. The respondent sat between his parents within the rail as the jurors filed into the court and when he stood up to hear the verdict he showed no sign of emotion.

The document was signed by P. C. Fontaine, vice president of the local union; F. I. Palmer, a Wilder merchant; and the three selectmen of the town, Scott Tinkham, W. W. Munsel and H. P. O'Neill.

Superintendent Shattuck stated that he had taken no action in the matter and had sent the paper to the New York office.

The sympathy of the town seems to be with the unfortunate men, as many of them have large families and are dependent upon their daily wages to support themselves.

Johnston Regrets Failure of Attempt at Suicide.

Concord, N. H., March 18.—A man who registered as Fred Ritchie of Boston, but whose real name is Johnston, and supposed to live in Montpelier, was found unconscious from asphyxiation in his room at the East Hotel yesterday. He was removed to the hospital and will recover.

The odor of escaping gas aroused suspicion in the hotel, and upon breaking into the room the doors and windows were found sealed and the gas turned on. Johnston, who is about 40 years old, said his reason for attempting suicide was that he was tired of life, and regretted that he did not succeed. It is said his will was found among papers in his room, and that he has a brother in business in Montreal.

MAURETANIA CUTS RECORD.

Does Long Westward Course in 4 Days,
15 Hours, 29 Minutes.

New York, March 18.—All previous westward records over the so-called long course from Detroit's rock, off Quebec, to the Ambrose channel lightship, at the entrance of New York harbor, were broken last night by the Cunard liner Mauretania.

Leaving Queenstown, last Sunday, March 15, she made the passage to Sandy Hook in four days, 15 hours and 29 minutes, at an average speed of 23.91 knots per hour. The previous westward record was made by the same vessel in July last, when she negotiated the distance in four days, 15 hours and 55 minutes, at an average speed of 23.84 knots. Her performance of last night, therefore, better her previous time by 26 minutes.

Looking Ahead.

Josephine, aged ten, has a decided lisp. She is also very fond of attending the matinee. The other day she was giving an spirited story of the play to Marion, who was aged nine.

"My mamma says it isn't good for little girls to go to the theater," said Marion with an air of self-righteousness. "I'm not ever going till I'm eighteen."

"Hump, retorted Josephine without any hesitation, 'I suppose you die when you're threatened, then you'll be hump!'"—Sally F. Yeller in Woman's Home Companion for March.

Wilder, March 18.—A paper has been presented to the International Paper company by their locked-out men, stating that the men are willing to go back to work and will not participate in any strike, providing they can remain in the company's plant here, but will not agree to go to any other mill. This is contrary to the paper drawn up by the company, stating that they would give them work if they would agree to go elsewhere, to assist in starting other mills, if needed.

The document was signed by P. C. Fontaine, vice president of the local union; F. I. Palmer, a Wilder merchant; and the three selectmen of the town, Scott Tinkham, W. W. Munsel and H. P. O'Neill.

Mrs. John T. Connick and Telesphore Hebert were arrested last night on warrants, charging them with adultery. Both were arraigned in the city court this morning and Mrs. Connick waived examination and was bound over to county court. Bail was set at $500, which she was unable to furnish and was taken to the county jail. Hebert entered a plea of guilty and his case was continued for a hearing on March 25. Bail of $5
